PULP CLUB APPOINTED EXECUTIVE

Second Meeting Was Held Yesterday

CONSTITUTION

Aims to Supply Link Between University and Industry

The second meeting of the newly organized Pulp and Paper Club was held yesterday afternoon in the Chemistry Building. About twenty men turned out for the purpose of adopting a constitution and to elect officers for the coming year.

The club promises to be one of the most valuable of the technical clubs around McGill. The pulp and paper industry is one for which Canada is pre-eminently suited and the university authorities as well as those actively engaged in the industry are heartily in accord with the aim of the new club which is to stimulate an interest among those undergraduates who intend going into the industry after graduation.

W. C. Munro, of Science, read the proposed constitution and the various clauses were thoroughly discussed. The following constitution was adopted by the unanimous vote of those present:

NAME.—This club shall be called "The McGill Pulp and Paper Club."

OBJECTS.—The objects of this club shall be:

To further the interests of the Pulp and Paper Industry in McGill University;

To hold regular meetings at which technical and practical subjects relating to the industry shall be discussed;

To co-operate with the Study Section of the Forest Products Laboratory of Canada;

To assist members of the club in obtaining work with the pulp and paper firms during the summer vacation and after graduation.

OFFICERS.—The officers of the club shall be honorary president, president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer, to be elected at the latter end of each college session. These officers shall constitute the executive. The executive shall have general charge and control of the club.

MEMBERS.—Any undergraduate of McGill interested in the pulp and paper industry shall be eligible for membership. The annual fee for membership shall be fifty cents.

MEETINGS.—Regular meetings at which papers shall be read shall be held once fortnightly.

Ten members shall constitute a quorum.

AMENDMENTS.—This constitution may be amended by the members present at any regular meeting of the club by a two-thirds vote of the members present, provided that such amendment shall be submitted to the members at the previous regular meeting.

After the adoption of the consti-

STRUCTURE OF ATOMS DISCUSSED

Dr. Johnson Delivers Address on Lewis-Langmuir Atom

PHYSICAL SOCIETY

Discuss Question of Physical Chemistry

A brief account of the theories of Lewis and Langmuir as to the constitution and structure of the atom was given by Dr. F. M. G. Johnson in an address delivered before the Physical Society last night.

In introducing his subject, Dr. Johnson stated that although a chemist, he was in the present instance dealing with a theory that was essentially physical as it sought to explain the properties of substances by means of the physical structure of their atoms. One property of atoms, an explanation of which has been most eagerly sought for in this direction, is that of valence. As early as 1899 it was recognized that there are two kinds of valence, positive and negative. When the elements are arranged in the seven groups of the periodic table it is found that their valences exhibit striking relationship. Each has, in fact, two valences, a normal and an additional valence. The normal valences of the seven groups are respectively, one, two, three, plus or minus four, minus three, minus two, minus one; while the additional valences are respectively minus seven, minus six, minus five, plus or minus four, plus five, plus six, plus seven. The mathematical relationship of these numbers led Lewis to formulate his theory of the cubical atom. He conceived the various elements to be made up of cubical atoms at the corners of which were placed the electrons. The atoms of the elements in group one contained one electron ,those in group two two electrons, and so on.

According to the theory put forward by Langmuir, the atom is in its struc-

ELECTION OF COMM. SOCIETY OFFICERS

Open Discussion and Election of Officers Next Wednesday

One of the last meetings of the Commercial oSciety will be held on Wednesday of the ensuing week at 8 P.M. in the Union. This meeting is of great importance and a full attendance is desired.

The annual election of officers will be held. It is the interest of all that the men best fitted for the positions should be elected to hold office. The Society in the past has chosen wisely and it is the duty of every mehmber to see that it does so again.

This meeting will also be the annual discussion meeting when the course is reviewed in all its varied aspects and its good and bad points amply dealt with. The result of this discussion is tabulated and submitted to the faculty for their consideration. The course during the past two years has undergone some radical changes due to this open discussion and has improved considerably over that of previous years. The faculty welcome the expression of undergraduate opinion, and it gives the student an opportunity to have some say in the mapping out of the course for the ensuing year.

ALMA MATER BIG CLIMAX FOR SEASON

Brilliant Success Was Enjoyed by All

PERFECT MUSIC

Ladies' Gowns and Decorations Produce Novel Effect

The Alma Mater dance was a brilliant climax to McGill's successful social season, and was an event long to be remembered

There was not a single flaw in any of the arrangements. The decorations were strikingly original and did not fail to lend the proper atmosphere required for a dance of this kind. Festoons and balloons were strung across the ballroom and massed up on the gallery. The lighting effect in the ballroom was novel and entirely conducive to the feeling of gayety that prevailed throughout the evening. All the lights except a few of the candelabras around the side were turned out, and a large searchlight swept the whirling couples. This produced a very entrancing sight.

The refreshments were on a par with the importance of the dance and were of an unusually high order. Punch was served in the lounge gallery on the second floor during the dancing and it goes without saying that everyone enjoyed this innovation. Music was provided by a six-piece orchestra, including a xylophone and saxophone, which rendered all the latest musical dance creations in an able manner.

Among the representatives from other Universities was Mr. Alan. Hamilton, of Queens. The patronesses were Lady Currie, Mrs. Gordon Laing, Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Finley, Mrs. Walter Molson ,and Miss Hurlbatt.

Amongst those present were the following:

Last Club Function of the Season

The last event of the year for members of the Mandolin and Banjo Orchestra as such will be held in the form of a dinner at the Union on Tuesday, March 14 at 7.15. Arrangements have been made and all that is now necessary is for the executive to have some idea of how many are going to attend. This should prove one of the most enjoyable of the many good times that the mandolinists have had together this session. A dinner is always enjoyable but especially so when everyone knows each other as well as members of the Mandolin Club do.

Next to the dinner the most important part of the programme will be the election of officers for the coming year. Those who are interested in the activities of the club next session should remember this. It is hoped that the dinner on Tuesday will establish a precedent in the way of similar gatherings for the elections of officers in the years to come.

The Club membership pins are also ready and they will be distributed at the dinner. The pin is a great little souvenir mounted by Birks in a suitable and appropriate design. Each member who participated in the Christmas tour will be presented with one.

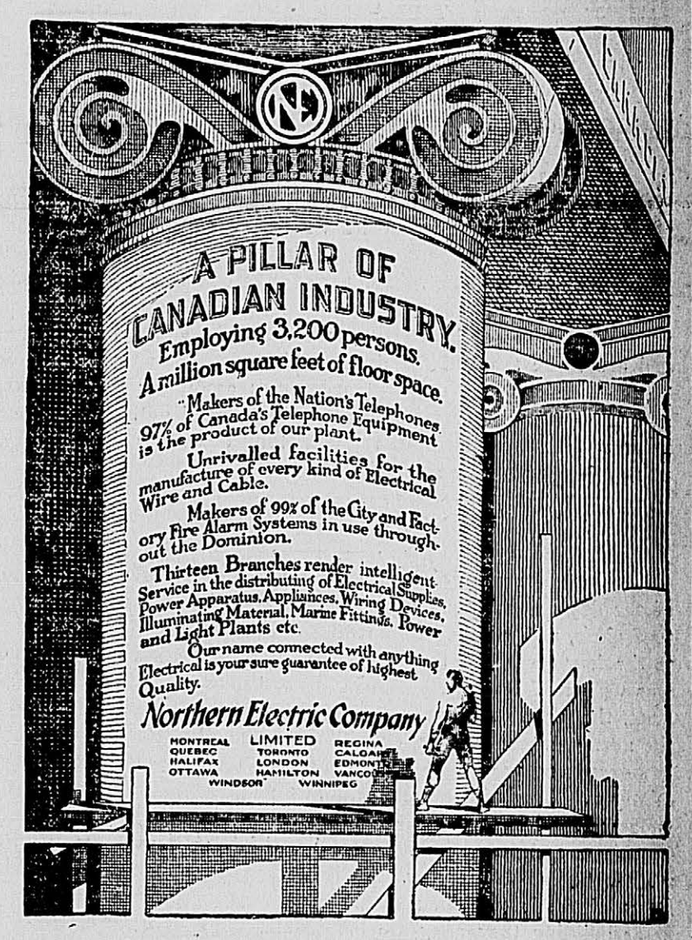

The dinner will not be a long affair, and as there will be no long and wearisome speeches, everything will be over before nine o'clock.

DR. LEACOCK WILL ADDRESS MEDICOS

Famous Humorist Speaks on Monday

The executive of the Medical Undergrad. have been fortunate in securing Dr. Leacock to address the society next Monday on his favorite subject for which he is so justly famous, namely, "The Lighter Side of Life."

For the first time this year the speaker of the evening will be drawn from outside the Medical profession, and although the topics so far presented have varied greatly in character, even from the most profound scientific discussions, to the realms of Greek literature, none promises to be more interesting nor has caused more favorable comment than next Monday's address. This departure from the series of medical talks is indeed most welcome, and will afford the medical student an opportunity of becoming acquainted with at least one of the great laymen at McGill.

In the opinion of many this spirit should be fostered as far as possible, to avoid the already too narrow and inevitable rut into which the average practitioner soon finds himself precipitated. His mind, so long cabined, cribbed, confined, by the essential studies of his course is no longer able to think in terms other than "shop" and the greatest advantage should be taken of all such opportunities, especially in the excellent beginning to be made next Monday evening with "The Lighter Side of Life."

As yet no nominations for officers in the society for the ensuing year have been received and the members are reminded that these nominations signed by at least ten members, must be in the hands of the secretary on or before Thursday, March 16, after which no more shall be accepted.

SWIMMERS HELD ANNUAL ELECTIONS

Four of This Year's Team Graduate

The Swimming Club held the final meeting for the session yesterday afternoon at 5.15. Four of this year's team graduate this spring; namely Fisk, Laishley, Paul Scott and Roy Foss. These men are all well-known in swimming circles and will be greatly missed next season. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. Dr. C. T. Sullivan was appointed Hon. President; he has shown much interest in the aquatic sports and is very popular. W. H. Laidley was elected president, with G. F. Binns vice-president. C. M. Anson is secretary and treasurer and M. A. Gaboury is manager for the team again next year. Geo. Vernot will captain the Swimming team while C. Graham-Brown is captain of the Polo team. I. Forsyth of this year's plunging fame was appointed reporter.

JUNIORS TO PLAY L.C.C. HOCKEYISTS

This afternoon at 3.00 o'clock in the Mount Royal Arena the McGill Juniors play Lower Canada College in the game which decides the Junior Hockey Championship of the province.

It is certain to be an extremely fast game, the teams are at their best, and playing excellent hockey.

They have both only been defeated once, each by Westmount. However in following matches Westmount was sent down for a big loss—in the case of McGill Juniors by 5-0.

Much attention has been paid to the Juniors this season. They have been under Shag's eye all year and he says the youngsters will be a great source of new material for next year's teams. They have worked hard all season and deserve great credit.

The line-up is as follows:—
Goal:—McCall
Left Wing:—Fred Connor.
Right Wing:—Abbot.
Centre:—Gammel.
Defense:—Emo.
Defense:—Joslin.
Spare-Goal:—Consiglio.
Subs:—Hyman, Galley, Menzies.

INTERMEDIATE "A" PLAY MACDONALD

The Intermdiate "A" basketball team will play an exhibition game with Macdonald College on their grounds at 3 o'clock today. This game was scheduled to give th McGill men a practice before the fixture with the Alerts at M.A.A.A. next Wednesday, when these two teams play off for the championship. The line-up for today is:

Centre—BBrowne.
Forwards—Scharfe, James.
Defence—Schartzman, Blumenstein.
Subs—Amaron, Hilton.

STUDENTS' SOCIETY MEETING.

The meeting of the Students' Society, scheduled to take place next week, will bring to an official conclusion the student activities for the session. At the meeting, the estimates of the financial standing of the society will be presented as well as the reports on the activities of the various clubs.

The gathering of the students presents an opportunity for an insight into the undergraduate affairs that is not offered at any other time. The new members of the Council will be present and will be guided by the discussion, suggestions and decisions of the students regarding the conduct of business next year.

Undergraduate business, while carried on by the Students' Council throughout the session, is subject to the expressed wishes of the students at their regular meeting, and the opportunities given at a regular session of the society should not be neglected. The special meeting of the society held some time ago helped to dispose of quite a lot of the preliminary business that usually delays the semi-annual meetings, and the actual business should be cleared away without such a great amount of discussion. This will allow time for the presentation of new business and will give all of the students a chance to give suggestions regarding next year's activities.

There should be no question about the number of men who will attend the meeting; every man attending the university is required to be present. With sufficient notice of the time for the meeting, the members of the society have plenty of time to prepare for it and to discuss the business in an intelligent manner.

THE ALMA MATE

The Alma Mater proved a fitting ending to the delightful series of dances held at the Union this year. The dance was one of the most successful ever held at the University, and not one untoward incident marred the brilliant event. The decorations were novel, especially the searchlight, and the strings of multi-colored balloons served to heighten the effect from the vari-hued gowns. The augmented McGill Dance Orchestra was in excellent form. The floor was in perfect condition, and much care was expended in the cosy sitting-out places. The refreshments were of an exceptionally high order.

The patrons and patronesses thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and are to be thanked for their gracious kindness throughout the evening. The dance committee deserves credit for the admirable way in which all the arrangements were carried out. Dances such as these take away much of the monotony of college life, and drive away thoughts of those examinations.

THE COMING VACATIONS.

"What are you going to do this Summer?" This is the topic of the day around the University. The session is rapidly drawing to a close, and within seven weeks the students will be dispersing to the four corners of the globe. In previous years the McGill man was welcomed by railway, steamship and industry, and last, but not least, the farm. This year, however, positions are very scarce, and the average student finds, or will find great difficulty in securing a job except on the land. This may be a blessing in disguise. Industry and good times are fleeting, but mother earth always has a welcome for her sons.

Farm and forest pursuits are healthful and invigorating after a strenuous academic year. Agriculture and forestry are the mainstays of the Dominion, and the hard work, experience, and character building they offer are invaluable. The more fortunate will spend happy days in the mountains, on the shore or abroad. Wherever one's lot may be cast, it is always possible to obtain experience which will be useful in after life.

LOCHEAD ON PROGRESS OF MISSIONARIES

Third Lecture on Chinese Missions

DIFFICULTIES MET WITH

Chinese Opposed to Innovation of Western Civilization

Dr. A. W. Lochead in the third of his interesting lectures on China, sketched the work of Modern Missions down to the time of the Boxer War. Western civilization same in contact with Eastern civilization about the time of the siege of Troy and had been in conflict ever since. There was no room for two civilizations: hence the destruction of Carthage.

Later western civilization became united with Christianity and has since made its way all over the world.

There were three attempts made to Christianize China which ended in failure, and which made little impression either on the people or the four great religious of China of that time. These failures were due no doubt to the fact that China was so far separated from Europe, it taking from one to three years to get there whereas now it is only a matter of weeks. It was also due to the fact that the few missionaries that went there were vowed to celibacy and were aesthetician kind of Christians.

A fourth attempt which showed promise of greater success was made under better conditions, there being about 6000 missionaries and their families there this time. And a better translation of the Scriptures into Chinese than had previously been available.

The Chinese bore a hatred and contempt of other people and considered that their civilization was at the top of the ladder. There was no change of opinion until the Battle of Plassey. After this, British traders started to trade with Southern China in opium. The British forbade the drugs to be carried in British ships, to which the traders agreed and continued in the same way only shipping it to their agents in Portugese ships to evade the law. The Chinese were also opposed to this trade and tried to suppress it, but without success.

In 1792 the McCartney mission tried to place trading with China on a better basis. The attitude of China at this time was: "we want nothing to do with these barbarians of the West."

Robert Morrison went to China in 1807 and was the first Protestant Missionary there. He did splendid work and translated a great part of the Bible into Chinese. Shortly after his death in the year 1834 W. C. Burns a man of great ability and organizing talent went there. He lived in a little hovel in Canton. He had great visions of the possibilities of God's work there. He took Maleria fever and had to go South and settled in Manchuria with a few of his teachers and did great work.

In 1863 the Charter of the East India Company lapsed. Shortly after this the Viceroy at Canton, ordered all opium there to be surrendered to the authorities. One thousand cases were surrendered. He, knowing there was more there, besieged the place and did not raise the siege until he had 20,200 cases in his possession. Later this was settled at the Treaty of Nankin, in which treaty the port of Shanghai and some others were thrown open to traders. It was only a small war but had great results and in 1844 Freedom was granted to exercise the Christian religion. Foreigners were under their own laws. The treaty really made these ports Foreign Cities.

ADDRESSES DELIVERED BY ALUMNAE

Varied Careers Await College Graduates

INTEREST SHOWN

Positions to Be Filled by Trained Women

"Have you decided what you are going to do after leaving college?" This question is often put to undergraduates both by friends outside McGill and their fellow students, and it is certainly a difficult thing to answer. All the students attending the meeting which was given by the Alumnae Society especially for them, will have received some valuable information with regard to the various careers open to women students after they leave college. This meeting which was held at R. V. C. yesterday at five o'clock was very well attended, especially by the R. V. C. girls.

Mrs. A. D. Fry, President of the Alumnae Society, spoke a few words and then introduced Miss Dickson, who, as Mrs. Enid Price was unable to do so, very kindly consented to be the Convenor of the Vocational Committee. Miss Dickson then spoke about journalism as a future career for the woman graduate.

"A girl's vocation" said Miss Dickson" is seldom thought of in her youth, but when she enters her fourth year at college and has acquired a strong wish for independance, it becomes a serious problem." She then gave the information she had found out through various interviews with newspapermen. There seems to be a strong prejudice in favour of the women graduate in this field, and when she is once started there is quick promotion. The only requirement is that she must realise that she is just raw material, and not have a superior attitude to those not having had a university education. For the life itself, she needs a strong constitution and a good capacity for work. There is an adventurous spirit in this vocation which keeps it from becoming monotonous, and to a woman who works hard and shows ability there is sure reward. As proof of this, Miss Dickson gave several examples of well-known women in the journalistic world.

At the conclusion of this very interesting talk, Mrs. Fry handed over the meeting to Miss Dickson, who then called on Miss Pastill, to speak to the meeting about the appointments for graduates in Department Stores.

Miss Pastill said that in her interviews with various business men in this work, her question as to whether there were positions for women graduates in the Department Stores, was answered in the affirmative provided that they did not think they knew more than the manager. Positions are there for graduates either as heads of departments or as buyers, or in the advertising department. To be successful the girl needs a strong personality and plenty of practical common sense. In regard to salary, the college graduate would probably start at the same rate as other applicants but she will get increases more quickly provided, of course, she is satisfactory, great emphasis being placed on her personality and manners. "The highest salady in Montreal "today" said Miss Pastill "is $5,000. but there is every possibility of this becoming $10,000 in the next few years."

Mrs. Walter Brown then dealt with Domestic Science as a career for girls leaving college. Here there are many openings such as teaching in schools or Nurse's training schools, posts as dietitian and above all, many opportunities: in executive work such as the management of cafeterias, clubs and hotel positions. Mrs. Brown is herself a pioneer in this line of business, from R.V.C. and in thus speaking from her own personal experience, her address was very much appreciated by the audience.

At the conclusion of this address, Miss Dickson asked Mrs. Prout to read the brief summary that had been sent to her, with regard to Banking. As most people know there were few girls in the banks before the war but now there are many opportunities there in Secretarial Work, Ledger Keeping, and also in the Department of Publication. There is still another position in the bank, that of Librarian. Thus the Bank is a good field for the graduate for the salary is good and there is a certain amount of advancement possible.

g"nooi tetemoth shrd cmf shr cmiw

Social Service Work was dealt with in a very interesting way by Miss Hurd, who in the absence of Dr. Helen Reid, spoke to the assembly. After dealing with the various fields in this work for service, such as the Family Welfare, Community Work, Miss. Hurd closed by saying that the work itself had great compensations and that, as Lord Byng said, it was up to the women of Canada to improve existing conditions

In the field of teaching there are no $10,000 jobs but there are other inducements. Some of the attractions that the teaching profession holds are a regular salary, the possibility for its regular increase and in Quebec, a pension at the age of 56. Security of position, long holidays and the satisfaction of a work which is for the good of the community. In Montreal more than half the children attending High Schools are now under the control of the Protestant Board. This is a great increase. The country schools are not so promising. There are still positions in Quebec open to University Graduates, many of whom may get experience in the lower grades and then advance to the High School.

The career of nursing was discussed by Miss Shaw. She said that the field of this attractive profession had changed and now many educated women where needed in it. The demand is greater than the supply. The salaries offered are from $900 to $2,500. and in the field of Public Health $1,500 to $3,000. Beside the material attractions of this life there were few fields of work, Miss Shaw said, where women were as happy.

In the C. P. R. Service there is no feeling against women but in this work there is less opportunity for advancement.

In the Insurance business there is a wide field of work for women which has not yet been taken up.

The women Undergraduates appreciate very much the kindness of the members of the Alumnae Society in inviting them to this meeting. The information they obtained should be most helpful.

PEPYS AT McGILL

Friday, March 10th. Down about the noon hour for my luncheon to the same pot-house where yesterday I drank of the excellent dark ale ,and this with a right merry band of fellowes; the one of them possessed of an ingine upon wheels called othomobile. So very well pleased at the ale and all I did eat, and up again for the remainder of my discourses at the colleges. It must be that there will be another ball this night among the students, for no less than five several fellowes approached me this day for a loan of monies to pay the avaricious jehus withall, which is a plague I have been not a little troubled with since I did fall heir to the baronetcy, though, Lord, the mere acquirement of my title and estates in the county of Norfolke tended rather to make me a worse beggar than I was ever before. I have now kept mine Lenten oathe anent the drinking of strong Liquores brewed by the monkes of the Frenche abbayes for ten days, in which I take no small pride.

BOXERS TO FIGHT THIS AFTERNOON

Close Fights Expected at Annapolis

FINE TEAM

McGill Three Men, 'Varsity Three, Queen's One

This afternoon the picked boxers of McGill, Toronto, and Queens meet the best that U.S. Naval Academy can produce in fistic combat. There will certainly be some close and interesting fights Annapolis has built up a fine reputation in the States, especially in boxing and wrestling, but they are up against a tough proposition in the Canadian Intercollegiate team. There is certainly no weak class in the Canadian team. Although not all the men on the team are intercollegiate champions, they are the best that can be procured. If the future sailors win they will only do so by a small margin.

Seven different bouts are to be held, and not eight, as in Canadian tournaments. There will be no fight in the 108 lb. class, as there is no separate class for this weight in the U.S. McGill is sending three men, Brewer, Shackell, and McMeans; Toronto has also three on the team, Goldie, Black, and Grey. Queens is represented by Holmes.

McMeans is the heavyweight and the Gobs are going to have a hard time with Slim. Goldie is a hard hitting light heavyweight and can be relied upon to give a good account of himself. Black, the middleweight, is one of the best middleweight boxers in the Dominion, and the men who can survive three rounds with Black are few and far between. Brewer's ability is so well known that it is needless to mention it here. Any man that can put it over on Windy deserves a medal. Shackell, the lightweight is another man who packs a hard wallop, and who has sent many a man down on the floor for ten seconds. Grey is a man whom it would be hard to find an equal for in his class in Canada. Holmes, the 118 lb. entrant is also a finished boxer.

The team that will perform this afternoon is as follows,

flnis&s NCo shrdemfsh cm cm cmf

115 lb. class Holmes of Queens
125 lb. class Grey of Varsity.
135 lb. class Shackell of McGill.
145 lb. class Brewer of McGill.
158 lb. class Black of Varsity.
175 lb. class Goldie of Varsity.
Heavyweight McMeans of McGill.

ture something like an onion. It consists of a nucleus or inner shell, and several outer shells, the radio of all of which are as one to two to three to four etc.

The basis upon which this theory is founded is the classification of the elements according to atomic numbers, and the Lngmur tmiaoia etIsova the Langmuir atom presents an ingenious explanation of the appearance of elements of similar properties in octaves.

Dr. Johnson showed some interesting slides illustrating in tabular form the underlying principles of Langmuir's theory.

In conclusion the speaker referred to the tremendous amount of work still to be covered in this subject ,and expressed the opinion that while the atomic conception of Lewis and Langmuir was of extreme value in the explanation of phenomena, he did not believe that it wouldl ive permanently.

After some discussion had taken place and a hearty vote of thanks had been tendered to Dr. Johnson the meeting adjourned.

VARSITY VS. McGILL IN GYMNASTICS

Last Intercollegiate Fixture of the Year—In Y.M.C.A.

10 A.M. AND 7.30 P.M.

Consiglio Unable to Contend —Team Has Good Chances

The last intercollegiate contest of the season, and the first of its kind to be held in Montreal, will be staged in the main gym. of the Central Y, this morning and evening, when teams representing 'Varsity and McGill meet in a gymnastic competition. In the morning at 10 a.m., the part that is least interesting from a spectator's point of view, will be run off, namely, the set movements, where every competitor goes through the same movement, which is judged for form only. The voluntary movements will be left for the evening. They are judged for difficulty and variety as well as for form, and each competitor performs two different movements.

The evening programme will be varied by some exhibition work by members of the School of Physical Education.

The Physical Co-eds will perform before and after the competition. The programme will be as follows:

1—School of Psysical Education:
Gymnastics (free standing) — Juniors and Seniors.
Club Swinging—Seniors.

2—Competition on apparatus — Toronto 'Varsity vs. McGill — High bar, parallel bars, horse and mats.

3—School of Physical Education —dances.
Folk Dance Juniors.
Irish Jig Juniors.
Barn Dance with variations.. Seniors.
Interpretative Exercises Seniors.

The evening events will commence at 7.30. It is open to the students and to the public, and no admission will be charged. Being the first inter-college gym. meet to be held here, it ought to prove of interest. Last year's meet in Toronto was entirely successful. A number of McGill supporters, men and women, will be a great help to the team, as the psychological element is of considerable importance in apparatus work.

The five men that will represent McGill are P. S. Scott, G. A. Holland, J. R. Delahay, Rolleston, and McLetchie. These men have been working steadily since the beginning of November. Lack of gymnasium equipment has again proved a handicap this year. The team has also been unfortunate in losing the services of Consiglio of last year's team. He commenced practice a few weeks ago, being occupied for most of the year with track and hockey, but has had to lay off on account of sickness. Toronto seems to have been having some difficulty in choosing its team, owing to the abundance of material to choose from, so it is probable that they have an exceptionally strong squad. However, if McGill improves a little on the showing made last year a close contest can be looked for.

Holland has taken first place in the Wicksteed Competition three years running and Paul Scott is a veteran at apparatus work. They will be sure to prove strong competitors against any men the 'Varsity team can put up. In any case, as a pure exhibition the contests will be well worth seeing.

Judges: Mr. M. Furey—Dir. Phys Ed. Y. M. C. A.; C. B. Powter—Dir. Phys. Ed. Prot. Board of School Comm.; J. Long—Dir. Phys. Ed. Catholic Board of School Comm.

tution the club proceeded to elect officers. Mr. A. L. Dawe, of the Canadian Export Paper Co., was elected honorary president; W. C. Munro was elected to the position of president, and F. W. Bradshaw to that of vice-president. Both these men are in the Faculty of Applied Science. F. W. McCrae, of Commerce, was appointed secretary-treasurer.

Before bringing the meeting to a close Munro emphasized the advantages of becoming student members of the Technical Section of the Pulp and Paper Association.

It was decided to hold a meeting in the very near future. About thirty men expressed their intentions to join the club.

Anatole France, the winner of the Nobel prize, has given the entire $40,000 to Russian relief in the Volga district.

There will be a meeting of the Returned Men's Association on Monday March 13th at 5 P.M. in the Union Ball Room.

AT THE THEATRES

ORPHEUM.

The Ex-Fightingmen's Association are fortunate in having as the star in "One Night at the Front," the French drama being played at the Orpheum next Sunday afternoon and evening for their benefit, a lady of the professional ability and prominence of Mme Georgette Gaudier. This charming artiste studied at the Conservatoire, Brussels, and made her theatrical debut in the Belgium capital. After attaining enviable success on the stage. Her beautiful stage presence and expressive countenance led to her being given flattering offers in the Cinema ands he starred in the finest productions of Pathe, Gaumont, Eclair and the Art Films of Paris, before going to South America and Mexico. Then she was summoned to New York. She had been arrested and condemned to death by Villa, but succeeded in securing her liberty from the Mexican General. She was selected to play the leading role of the Marquise in the famous Clemenceau photoplay "Les Plus Forts," ("The Strongest,") when it was produced by the Fox Film Corporation, having been selected for the part by Clemenceau himself.

"One Night at the Front" to be given at the Orpheum tomorrow afternoon and evening, is a thrilling three-act drama of the war. The scene is laid in a Castle which was wrested from the Germans by the Canadians, and tells of the stirring adventures of the lady who owned the castle and discovered in her husband a spy. It was written by Henri Kistermaechers and ran for two years in Paris and one year in New York.

The folk lore and traditional literature of Ireland is full of romance and the old people used to dearly love to tell and the younger listen to the telling. Among the most enthralling of these which has been told in poetry and prose and play is "Kathleen Mavourneen, or St. Patrick's Eve." As a drama it is early Victorian, but it is one of those stories which might have happened yesterday, but in other country than Ireland. The tender heart interest, the lovely scenic setting, the rich and ready wit which bubbles up so spontaneously just chasing the tear away—these are distinctly Hibernian. It has been chosen by the Orpheum Players for the only purely professional offering to commemorate St. Patrick's Day and will be played by them all next week. It is a restful, pathetic little romance of a dear little Irish colleen and her love, which our parents and grandparents cried and laughed over, and which theatre goers of the present day will go away feeling better for having seen it. As a spectator once said of it, "It leaves a taste in yer mouth like a whiff of new mown hay smells."

Miss Margaret Knight, with her large repertoire of all kinds of roles, has none which she enters into with more pleasure than that of Kathleen. The Orpheum Players, most of whom have had Old Country experience, are singularly fitted for the parts assigned them.

ALLEN

The management of the Allen theatre promise a double bill of unusual attractiveness for the coming week, commencing tomorrow afternoon. The glamour and the lure of night life in Paris and New York are vividly reflected in "Peacock Alley," in which the exotic Mae Murray will be the leading artist, and which is reported to give her the best opportunity for acting of her entire screen career. The critical comments upon this film are of an exceptional character. Cinema Art calls it "the last word in pictures." The brilliant little blonde screen favorite plays the part of a Parisian dancer, the darling of the famous city of pleasure, who is feted and adored for her daring dances and her astonishing costumes. She falls in love with a youthful tourist, an American small town lad, marries him, and goes home with him, only to discover that her husband's folk are scandalized by his French wife. Then comes a rude awakening on Broadway, giving to this story a strangely dramatic and interesting turn. The scenes are brilliant, and the acting is reported to be on a high level.

The other feature is Buster Keaton in "The Playhouse." This is the first of a series that clever young comedian is making for the First National, and advance reports indicate that it is a riot of laughter from start to finish. Keaton undertakes to be the "whole show" in the playhouse, with the result that he gets into continual hot water, everything goes wrong, and in the end drags the wrong twin to the altar, but manages to emerge whole and happy. It is a typical Keaton film, full of good things.

The Allen orchestra will continue under the able direction of M. Pelz. There will be a new scenic, and the customary weekly features,—the news film, the comedy, the topical film, and the weekly review. Altogether, it looks like a bill of exceptional value and interest.

THE COLLEGIAN'S CREED.

If you speak to everyone on the campus, you're a policy shooter; if you don't you're a fathead. If you step out,, you're a tea snake; if you don't, you're a bum sport; if you study, you're a bookworm; if you don't you're a purposeless amoeba; if you dress well, you're a fairy: if you don't you're a farmer. LOCHEAD ON PROGRESS OF MISSIONARIES

There are about 20 of these cities and they were the only ones during the recent rebellions in China that were not looted.

The seizure of a British ship for smuggling led to the second trade war. Which ended by Pekin being besieged and the beautiful Palaces that the Jesuits had built there being destroyed. A chinese envoy travelled West for the first time to apologize.

In this treaty that was drawn up, a trick by a Jesuit Father placed this clause in the treaty!—"French Priests should be allowed to go anywhere."

Strangely enough this has been the foundation of all missionaries ever since, as other counties claimed the same rights and got them. The Chinese knew this clause was a forgery but did not oppose it, so we must not emphasize it too much.

The Opium trade continued to grow so rapidly that it became a menace and put the food supply in danger. So much ground being taken up in the growth of Poppys.

In 1906 a private member in the House of Commons made a motion to this effect. To do away with the opium trade between India and China: it was seconded and passed with no opposition a direct answer to the missionaries prayers. The Chinese soon stamped out the growth in their country and the British followed suit. It looked as if the Problem was solved.

However the victims of the ever increasing morphine trade offset this advantage.

The work of Charles Gordon during the Tai Ping rebellion, and that Sir Robert Hart in the Maritime Customs was then briefly reviewed.

The events leading up to the Boxer Rebellion in 1898 were then discussed. This was the last time China attempted to stamp out Christianity and since then she has adopted a different attitude.

The twin Ford Plan

Why not buy two Ford cars instead of one big car?
The arguments are all in favor of the twin Ford Plan.
It doubles your motoring facilities and reduces your motoring costs. You can buy and operate two Fords at less expense than one big car.
It adds to the pleasure and convenience of your family without interfering in any way with your business arrangements.
It means that you can have brand new cars every year—so high is the trade-in value of the Ford.
